

Drought Lightens Insect Pressure

Pests Took A Beating From The Dry Weather In 2007

This story was previously published last week, issue 13 in the MidAmerica Farmer Grower. We inadvertently published a photo of Dr. Russ Patrick instead of Dr. Scott Stewart. We would like to apologize to both Dr. Stewart and Dr. Patrick for this mistake. If you wish to review the above mentioned article you may review it on www.mafg.net.

Dr. Scott Stewart, Cotton IPM Specialist at the West Tennessee Research and Education Center in Jackson, Tenn, comments that 2007 was the lightest pest year since 2002.

Photo by John LaRose

Publisher, John LaRose